(Both currently passing through Course Challenge Process)

These courses, taught in Spanish, provide the certified teachers enrolled in the program with practical approaches to supporting literacy in a preschool or elementary school dual language environment.

By the end of SPAN 665, students will be able to:

- Demonstrate familiarity with the contributions of indigenous cultures to Hispanic culture
- Discuss current issues and challenges faced by Hispanic communities abroad and at home
- Analyze and explain the significance of diverse forms of literary and cultural expression
- Develop a cultural unit of instruction for elementary school children involving the use of literary texts

By the end of SPAN 668, students will be able to:

- Demonstrate familiarity with children's literature in Spain, Latin America and the United States
- Analyze the literary structure and the cultural significance of Hispanic plays, fables and short stories written for (or by) children throughout the Spanish-speaking world
- Develop instructional units for elementary school children involving the use of theater, fables and short stories

World language immersion programs have been established throughout Delaware thanks to Governor Markell's 2011 World Language Expansion Initiative, and their number is increasing rapidly both in Delaware and in neighboring states. At this time, there are eleven Delaware public schools using immersion programs to introduce elementary school children to foreign languages (seven in Spanish and four in Chinese), and by 2020, the Delaware Department of Education (DOE) expects to have 20 fully functioning immersion programs throughout the state. Teachers certified in Early Childhood Education, or ECE (birth to grade 2 in the State of Delaware), and Elementary Teacher Education, or ETE (grades K-6 in the State of Delaware), who are also able to deliver developmentally appropriate instruction in a foreign language, are in great demand. In fact, DOE calculates that more than 120 new teaching positions will be required to staff the immersion program by the time it reaches full implementation in 2020. Since the introduction of the World Language Expansion Initiative, all immersion programs have been staffed by temporary faculty hired from overseas. This staffing approach is neither sustainable, nor desirable, for the long-term success of this initiative, and the University of Delaware has a great opportunity to create a viable and sound graduate program to address this teaching gap.

In consultation with Delaware's Department of Education, UD's School of Education, and the Department of Human Development and Family Studies, the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures has designed an MA program to help prepare candidates to teach in the dual-language immersion environment. There is a part-time option, designed for candidates holding a bachelor's degree and already certified in ECE or ETE; there are also two 4+1 options designed for highly qualified undergraduates in UD's Early Childhood Education or Elementary Teacher Education programs. By taking an accelerated course of study (with two graduate courses taken during the undergraduate portion of their program) and participating in a study abroad program during one summer or winter session after completing BS ECE/BSEd requirements, these students can graduate from the program not only with teacher certification, but also with greatly enhanced proficiency in the target language and in-depth knowledge of the target culture(s). These proposed programs have met with enthusiastic support from the leadership of UD's Early Childhood Education and Elementary Teacher Education programs.

Program Overview

The purpose of the MA in Childhood Foreign Language Education is to provide candidates with the knowledge and skills needed to teach effectively in the dual language immersion classroom. This interdisciplinary program provides the opportunity for professional growth in the areas of linguistic and cultural proficiency, as well as teaching methodology. There is a part-time option for in-service teachers, and a 4+1 option for UD majors in Early Childhood Education and Elementary Teacher Education.

Application for Admission

The Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures recognizes the University application deadlines of July 1 for the fall semester and December 1 for the spring semester. However, students are encouraged to apply much earlier. Prospective 4+1 participants apply to the program after completing 60 or more credits (normally, in the fall of their junior year).

Study Abroad Opportunities

The program requires 6 credits earned on an approved graduate study abroad program, with all coursework completed in the target language.

Requirements for Admission

For non-4+1 candidates, the requirements for admission are:

- 1. BA, BS or equivalent in an appropriate discipline.
- 2. Early Childhood or Elementary Teacher certification.
- 3. Minimum undergraduate Grade Point Average of 2.9 overall, and 3.25 in the major subject.
- 4. GRE General Test. Official GRE scores should be submitted at the beginning of the application process. The analytical writing test is required as a part of the GRE. A minimum of 158 (570 on the pre-2011 scoring scale) on the verbal reasoning section is normally required.
- 5. TOEFL for international students
- paper-based: minimum of 550 for admission;
- internet-based iBT: minimum of 79 for admission;
- The IELTS (International English Language Testing System) is another option. The minimum IELTS score is 6.5 overall with no individual sub-score below 6.0.
- 6. Three letters of recommendation, preferably from professors or supervisors who know the candidate well.
- 7. Applicants must submit a writing sample of at least 1000 words in the target language (this may be a paper written for an undergraduate class). In addition, candidates applying for a teaching assistantship may have a brief personal or telephone interview conducted in English and the target language.

For 4+1 candidates, the admission requirements are:

- 1. Good standing in the University of Delaware's major in Early Childhood Education or Elementary Teacher Education.
- 2. Undergraduate Grade Point Average of at least 3.25 and a major GPA of 3.5 or better. Support from the applicant's academic advisor is required.
- 3. The GRE and TOEFL are waived for 4+1 applicants.
- 4. Three letters of recommendation, preferably from a professor, advisor or supervisor who knows the candidate well.
- 5. Applicants must submit a writing sample of at least 1000 words in the target language (this may be a paper written for an undergraduate class).
- 6. Documented oral proficiency in the target language (Minimum: Intermediate-Mid on the ACTFL Oral Proficiency Interview (OPI) OR 43 points on the Versant oral proficiency test).

Admission to the MA in Childhood Foreign Language Education is competitive. Those who meet stated minimum academic requirements are not guaranteed admission, nor are those who fail to meet one or more requirements necessarily precluded from admission if they offer other appropriate strengths.

Requirements for the Degree

30 credits are required, as follows: 6 graduate credits in EDUC (EDUC 601 OR EDUC 740, AND EDUC 622), OR, for 4+1 ECE participants, in HDFS (HDFS 606 AND 621); plus 18 credits in SPAN (SPAN 601, 675, 665, 668, and two 3-credit graduate courses in Spanish/Latin American language and culture taken on an approved study abroad program), and 6 credits in Pedagogy (FLLT 626 AND 629).

Non-course degree requirements

Candidates must pass an oral proficiency test at the end of the program, and submit a Teaching Portfolio.

4+1 BSED/MA in Childhood Foreign Language Education

The four-year curriculum for the Bachelor of Science in Education contains required graduate courses that prepare students in the Elementary Teacher Education (ETE) major for the Master of Arts in Childhood Foreign Language Education. This interdisciplinary degree trains candidates to teach in the dual-language immersion classroom. With this 4+1 plan and the proper scheduling of graduate EDUC courses, students may enter immediately into the MA program in the College of Arts and Sciences, Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, full-time with the possibility of completion within one year.

Qualification for the 4+1 Program

Undergraduates in the University of Delaware ETE major may apply for admission to the 4+1 program after completing 60 or more credits. Admission decisions will be based on GPA, work experiences, letters of recommendation, extracurricular activities, maturity, and a personal interview. There is also a proficiency requirement in the target foreign language (Minimum: Intermediate-Mid on the ACTFL Oral Proficiency Interview, or 43 points on the Versant Language Assessment).

It is generally expected that students will have an undergraduate GPA of at least 3.25 and a major GPA of 3.5 or better, and they will have an academic advisor who will strongly support his or her application to the program. Admission is competitive, so meeting the minimum requirements for admission does not guarantee admission, nor does the failure to meet a requirement result in an automatic rejection. Provisional admittance will be granted by the Office of Graduate and Professional Education. Upon completion of the undergraduate degree, the provisional status would be removed.

Procedures:

Students in the 4+1 program will complete all requirements for the undergraduate major in Elementary Teacher Education. However, the four-year curriculum for the Bachelor of Science in Elementary Teacher Education, when taken as part of the 4+1 program, contains required graduate courses that prepare the student for completion of the Master of Arts curriculum. With this 4+1 plan and the proper scheduling of courses as an undergraduate, students may enter immediately into the MA program full-time with the possibility of completion within one year.

UD Elementary Teacher Education undergraduate majors who are provisionally granted admission to the 4+1 BS/MA program in Childhood Foreign Language Education and subsequently admitted to the 4+1 program would take:

• EDUC 601, Language Development in the Classroom OR EDUC 740, Literacy Instruction for English Language Learners

• EDUC_622, The Role of Literacy in Content Areas, as an elective (for students in concentrations that include electives) or in addition to ETE major requirements (for students in concentrations that do not include electives).

Students who take EDUC 740 in place of EDUC 440 would need to earn a C- or higher in order for the course to count toward the ETE major.

The four-year curriculum for the Bachelor of Science in Early Childhood Education contains required graduate courses that prepare the student for the Master of Arts in Childhood Foreign Language Education. This interdisciplinary degree trains candidates to teach in the dual-language immersion classroom. With this 4+1 plan and the proper scheduling of graduate HDFS courses, students may enter immediately into the MA program in the College of Arts and Sciences, Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, full-time with the possibility of completion within one year.

Qualification for the 4+1 Program

Undergraduates in the University of Delaware HDFS major may apply for admission to the 4+1 program after completing 60 or more credits. Admission decisions will be based on GPA, work experiences, letters of recommendation, extracurricular activities, maturity, and a personal interview. There is also a proficiency requirement in the target foreign language (Minimum: Intermediate-Mid on the ACTFL Oral Proficiency Interview, or 43 points on the Versant Language Assessment).

It is generally expected that students will have an undergraduate GPA of at least 3.25 and a major GPA of 3.5 or better, and they will have an academic advisor who will strongly support his or her application to the program. UD Early Childhood Education undergraduate majors who are provisionally granted admission to the 4+1 BS/MA program in Childhood Foreign Language Education and subsequently admitted to the 4+1 program may waive the requirement to take a) HDFS 406 Supporting Literacy in Early Childhood Education (3 credits) by completing HDFS 606 Early Child Literacy Skill Development (3 credits). They will also replace a focused elective at the 400-level (3 credits) with HDFS 621 (Family Studies I: Empirical and Theoretical Perspectives). Content of the courses waived in the undergraduate program is addressed in greater depth and placed in the larger scholarly context in the corresponding graduate courses. For any undergraduate course requirement to be waived, the student needs to earn a grade of B (3.0) or better in the corresponding HDFS graduate course.

PROGRAM PROPOSAL

MA IN CHILDHOOD FOREIGN LANGUAGE EDUCATION, WITH 4+1 OPTIONS: 1) BS IN EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION/MA IN CHILDHOOD FOREIGN LANGUAGE EDUCATION; 2) BS ED IN ELEMENTARY TEACHER EDUCATION/MA IN CHILDHOOD FOREIGN LANGUAGE EDUCATION

I. DESCRIPTION

In consultation with the State of Delaware's Department of Education, UD's School of Education, and the Department of Human Development and Family Studies, the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures has designed an MA program with two 4+1 options to help prepare candidates to teach in the dual-language immersion environment: The MA program allows for part-time study by candidates holding a bachelor's degree and already certified in Early Childhood Education (ECE) or Elementary Teacher Education (ETE). The 4+1 options are designed for highly qualified undergraduates in UD's Early Childhood Education or Elementary Teacher Education programs. By pursuing an accelerated course of study (with two graduate courses taken during the undergraduate portion of their program) and participating in a study abroad program during one summer or winter session after the four undergraduate years, they can graduate from the program not only with teacher certification (and the option for certification in World Languages in the state of Delaware, with a passing grade on the Praxis II exam), but also with greatly enhanced proficiency in the target language and in-depth knowledge of the target culture(s). These proposed programs have met with enthusiastic support from the leadership of UD's ECE and ETE programs. We are currently able to implement a program focusing on Spanish proficiency, but we aim to add other high-demand languages (Chinese, for example) in the future.

II. RATIONALE AND DEMAND

A. Institutional Factors

World language immersion programs have been established throughout Delaware thanks to Governor Markell's 2011 World Language Expansion Initiative, and their number is increasing rapidly both in Delaware and in neighboring states. At this time, there are eleven Delaware public schools using immersion programs to introduce elementary school children to foreign languages (seven in Spanish and four in Chinese), and by 2020, the Delaware Department of Education (DOE) expects to have 20 fully functioning immersion programs throughout the state.

Teachers certified in Early Childhood Education, or ECE (birth to grade 2 in the State of Delaware), and Elementary Teacher Education, or ETE (grades K-6 in the State of Delaware), who are also able to deliver developmentally appropriate instruction in a foreign language, are in great demand. In fact, DOE calculates that more than 120 new teaching positions will be required to staff the immersion program by the time it reaches full implementation in 2020. Since the introduction of the World Language Expansion Initiative, all immersion programs have been staffed by temporary faculty hired from overseas. This staffing approach is neither sustainable, nor desirable, for the long-term success of this initiative, and the University of Delaware has a great opportunity to create a viable and sound graduate program to address this teaching gap.

Early in 2013, members of the Graduate Studies Committee of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, responding to the Governor's initiative and his direct appeal to the University, recognized this opportunity and decided to develop our department's potential to provide the linguistic and cultural knowledge in-service and future teachers will need to function in the dual-language classroom. A preliminary proposal was addressed to the responsible faculty in the two UD teacher-education programs (ECE and ETE), and consultations between the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, the Delaware Department of Education, UD's School of Education and its Department of Human Development and Family Studies began in spring 2013. The proposal was finalized in September 2013, and endorsed by all three participating UD departments, the Delaware Department of Education, and the Delaware Center for Teacher Education.

The proposed curriculum is intended to enhance UD's teacher training programs by multiplying the career paths available to our graduates. At the same time, we will be fulfilling the University's educational and strategic priorities by 1) rising as a regional leader in the fast-growing field of teacher preparation for the dual language immersion classroom and by 2) forging new ties between the College of Arts and Science and the School of Education and Human Development, as we build together an innovative interdisciplinary program that will ultimately enhance the educational opportunities for schoolchildren in Delaware and across the region.

No impact is expected on any other instructional, research, or service programs of the University.

The proposed curriculum would more fully utilize the teaching resources of the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, where many of our faculty members are qualified to teach the proposed courses, geared to in-service teachers and educators-in-training. Many of the courses in the curriculum are already being taught in the department (for example, SPAN 601 and 675 will be cross-listed with SPAN 401 and 475; FLLT 626, Research Seminar in Second Language Acquisition, and FLLT 629, Methods of Teaching Foreign Language in the Elementary School, are already offered on a regular basis). The new courses created for the proposed program (SPAN 665 and 668) will be available also to MA students in our existing MAFLL/MAFLP programs, and our Spanish faculty members are eager to teach these innovative courses.

B. Student demand

1. Based on prospective student inquiries from current EDUC/HDFS undergraduates and from in-service teachers in the region, and using projections from our colleagues in ECE and ETE, we expect to start with around six students in the first cohort, and to grow to ten or more per year (once the program becomes a familiar option). We plan to add in coming years curricula in additional high-demand languages (Chinese, for example). Current students in our MAFLL/MAFLP programs have expressed interest in taking the Spanish courses that will be part of the new program's curriculum.

The proposed 4 + 1 program should be attractive to ECE and ETE majors for many reasons. Qualified students would:

- learn of their admission to a graduate program as early as their junior year;
- have the GRE admissions requirement waived;
- complete their MA in one half the time, saving a year's worth of tuition;
- have the opportunity to take graduate courses as undergraduates, and thereby to meet their future graduate peers and better prepare for their graduate experience;
- be eligible to be hired at the Masters pay level in public schools.
- 2. On the one hand, our part-time MA program is designed to accommodate certified inservice teachers who wish to work in a dual-language environment: courses will be scheduled after school hours, and two of the required EDUC courses are offered online. On the other hand, our 4+1 option will appeal to undergraduates looking to complete a Master's degree in one year.

C. Transferability

We are expecting students in this program to transfer in 6 graduate credits earned on an approved study-abroad program during the winter or summer semester. For 4+1 participants, these credits are earned after the four years of the BS program.

D. Access to graduate and professional programs

The 4+1 option entails entry into the MA program in Childhood Foreign Language Education in the fifth year. As we stated in our introduction, elementary school teachers proficient in at least one foreign language are in great demand in the state and throughout the region, and those who come prepared to work in a dual-language classroom, delivering instructional content in the target language, are in even greater demand.

E. Demand and employment factors

The Delaware DOE calculates that more than 120 new teaching positions will be required to staff the state's language immersion program by the time it reaches full implementation in 2020. Dual-language classroom initiatives in many languages are growing throughout the region and indeed throughout the US, and we expect our graduates to be in great demand.

F. Regional, state, and national factors

- 1. There are only two programs in the region that share some of the features of our proposed new MA program, but there are fundamental differences between these programs and the one we are proposing. The University of Maryland offers a Foreign Language concentration for their Elementary Education Program, but this is not an MA program, and UM requires only 9 credits in the target language at the intermediate level or above—far fewer than our proposed program (we require 18 credits in the target language at the MA level alone; our entrance proficiency requirement entails previous language study at the undergraduate level). Graduates of UD's MA program in Childhood Foreign Language Education would therefore have a much greater mastery of the target language. Rutgers University has a 4+1 Teacher Education program in Foreign Language, but it trains foreign language teachers (as does our department's MAFLP program); in contrast, our new program is designed to train early childhood and elementary teachers to deliver core subject instruction (reading, math, science) in the target language, in a language immersion context. This fundamental difference makes our program unique. In time, we hope to reach the level of recognition of two of the national leaders in dual-language/immersion education, the University of Minnesota and Brigham Young University.
- 2. The new MA program was designed to adhere to the linguistic and cultural proficiency standards of ACTFL, the American Council for the Teaching of Foreign Languages. ACTFL strongly supports dual-language immersion as the key to early and lasting foreign language proficiency that will lead to greater career opportunities in the global economy for today's young students. Our two major assessments, the Oral Proficiency Interview and the Teaching Portfolio, adhere to ACTFL standards and templates. The ECE and ETE programs that lead to the teacher certification of the 4+1 participants are accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP, formerly NCATE). The new program would be part of CAEP's next accreditation visit in fall 2018.

This program was formulated in consultation with Dr. Juan Carlos Morales, World Language Specialist at the Delaware Department of Education.

G. Other strengths

1. The curriculum of the MA in Childhood Foreign Language Education is strengthened by the expertise of the internationally-known FLL faculty involved in the new program. Dr. Jorge Cubillos, Professor of Spanish, is one of the principal architects of the new MA program. A distinguished specialist in Second Language Acquisition, he teaches FLLT 626, the research seminar which is required of participants in the new program (it is already an offering in our MAFLP program). As Director of Assessment for our department, and a professional with an active research record in pedagogy and assessment issues, he will contribute greatly to the development and growth of the program. Dr. Gladys Ilarregui, Associate Professor of Spanish, is an expert in Latin American literature and culture. The new courses she designed for the program, SPAN 665 (Reading Workshop) and SPAN 668 (Spanish and Latin American Children's Literature) are the product of extensive consultations with colleagues and elementary educators in the US and abroad. Her colleagues Dr. Cristina Guardiola, Associate Professor of Spanish, and Dr. Phillip Penix-Tadsen, Assistant Professor of Spanish, are also planning on contributing their expertise in cultural and literary studies to the new program. Dr. Iris Busch, Assistant Professor of German and FL Pedagogy, is a specialist in early language learning who regularly teaches FLLT 629, Methods of Teaching Foreign Language in the Elementary School. She is the State Representative to NNELL, the National Network for Early Language Learning.

III. ENROLLMENT, ADMISSIONS AND FINANCIAL AID

A. Enrollment

We plan to limit enrollments by means of prerequisites (including specified target-language minimum proficiency levels) and by academic performance (see "Admission Requirements," below). Admissions requirements for the proposed MA program are on a par with those of FLLT's existing MAFLL and MAFLP programs. The GRE is waived for the 4+1 participants, of whom an undergraduate GPA of at least 3.25 and a major GPA of 3.5 or better is expected; they must also have an academic advisor who strongly supports their application to the program. By these means we seek to ensure a highly-qualified (and ultimately highly employable) student body.

B. Admission Requirements

- 1. Admissions criteria for the MA program in Childhood Language Education (for candidates already possessing teacher certification)
- 1. BA or BS or equivalent in an appropriate discipline.
- 2. Early Childhood or Elementary Teacher certification.
- 3. Minimum undergraduate Grade Point Average of 2.9 overall, and 3.25 in the major.
- 4. The GRE General Test. Official GRE scores should be submitted at the beginning of the application process. The analytical writing test is required as part of the GRE. A minimum of 158 (570 on the pre-2011 scoring scale) on the verbal reasoning section is normally required.
- 5. TOEFL for international students:
 - paper-based: minimum of 550 for admission, 600 for teaching assistantship;
 - internet-based iBT: minimum of 79 for admission, 100 for teaching assistantship;
 - The IELTS (International English Language Testing System) is another option. The minimum IELTS score is 6.5 overall with no individual sub-score below 6.0.
- 6. Three letters of recommendation.

- 7. Applicants must submit a writing sample of at least 1000 words in the target language (this may be a paper written for an undergraduate class).
- 8. Documented oral proficiency in the target language (Minimum: Intermediate-Mid on the ACTFL Oral Proficiency Interview (OPI) OR 43 points on the Versant oral proficiency test).

2. Admissions criteria for the 4+1 program

- 1. Good standing in the University of Delaware's major in Early Childhood Education or Elementary Teacher Education.
- 2. Undergraduate Grade Point Average of at least 3.25 and a major GPA of 3.5 or better. Support from the applicant's academic advisor is required.
- 3. The GRE and TOEFL are waived for 4+1 applicants.
- 4. Three letters of recommendation.
- 5. Applicants must submit a writing sample of at least 1000 words in the target language (this may be a paper written for an undergraduate class).
- 6. Documented oral proficiency in the target language (Minimum: Intermediate-Mid on the ACTFL Oral Proficiency Interview (OPI) OR 43 points on the Versant oral proficiency test).

3. Maintaining Status within the Program

Once admitted to the MA or the 4 + 1 BS/MA program, students must:

- 1) maintain a minimum 3.0 overall GPA throughout the remainder of their undergraduate and/or graduate programs;
- 2) 4+1 students must earn grades of "B" or higher in the two designated graduate-level HDFS or EDUC courses they take as undergraduates; and all students must
- 3) demonstrate satisfactory progress in the program.

Satisfactory progress includes following the prescribed program of study. Each student's progress and GPA will be evaluated at the end of each academic year by the MA in Childhood FL Education Program Committee. Students who fail to meet the minimum GPA requirements or fail to show progress towards the degree may be withdrawn from the MA program.

C. Student Expenses and Financial Aid

Students will not have any required expenses beyond the traditional book and supplies expenses. At this time, we do not plan to offer financial support for students in this program: self-funding is expected to be the norm.

IV. CURRICULUM SPECIFICS

A. Institutional Factors

Those who complete the program will earn the MA in Childhood Foreign Language Education (the 4+1 students will first earn the BS Ed or the BS in ECE). The 30 credits of graduate-level coursework, along with the high level of professional engagement that leads to the assembly of the Teaching Portfolio, make the Master's degree an appropriate form of recognition.

B. Curriculum Description

4+1 BSED/MA in Childhood Foreign Language Education

The four-year curriculum for the Bachelor of Science in Education contains required graduate courses that prepare students in the Elementary Teacher Education (ETE) major for the Master of Arts in Childhood Foreign Language Education. This interdisciplinary degree, with coursework in pedagogy, language, and culture, trains candidates to teach in the dual-language immersion classroom. With this 4+1 plan and the proper scheduling of graduate EDUC courses, students may enter immediately into the MA program in the College of Arts and Sciences full-time, with the possibility of completing their MA within one year.

Qualification for the 4+1 Program

Undergraduates in the University of Delaware ETE major may apply for admission to the 4+1 program after completing 60 or more credits. Admission decisions will be based on GPA, work experiences, letters of recommendation, extracurricular activities, maturity, and a personal interview. There is also a proficiency requirement in the target foreign language (Minimum: Intermediate-Mid on the ACTFL Oral Proficiency Interview, or 43 points on the Versant Language Assessment).

It is generally expected that students will have an undergraduate GPA of at least 3.25 and a major GPA of 3.5 or better, and they will have an academic advisor who will strongly support his or her application to the program. Admission is competitive, so meeting the minimum requirements for admission does not guarantee admission, nor does the failure to meet a requirement result in an automatic rejection. Provisional admittance will be granted by the Office of Graduate and Professional Education. Upon completion of the undergraduate degree, the provisional status would be removed.

Procedures:

Students in the 4+1 program will complete all requirements for the undergraduate major in Elementary Teacher Education. However, the four-year curriculum for the Bachelor of Science in Elementary Teacher Education, when taken as part of the 4+1 program, contains required graduate courses that prepare the student for completion of the Master of Arts curriculum. With this 4+1 plan and the proper scheduling of courses as an undergraduate, students may enter immediately into the MA program full-time with the possibility of completion within one year.

UD Elementary Teacher Education undergraduate majors who are provisionally granted admission to the 4+1 BS/MA program in Childhood Foreign Language Education and subsequently admitted to the 4+1 program would take:

- EDUC 601, Language Development in the Classroom OR EDUC 740, Literacy Instruction for English Language Learners
- EDUC_622, The Role of Literacy in Content Areas, as an elective (for students in concentrations that include electives) or in addition to ETE major requirements (for students in concentrations that do not include electives).

 Students who take EDUC 740 in place of EDUC 440 would need to earn a C- or higher in order for the course to count toward the ETE major.

4+1 BS ECE/MA in Childhood Foreign Language Education

The four-year curriculum for the Bachelor of Science in Early Childhood Education contains required graduate courses that prepare the student for the Master of Arts in Childhood Foreign Language Education. This interdisciplinary degree, with coursework in pedagogy, language, and culture, trains candidates to teach in the dual-language immersion classroom. With this 4+1 plan and the proper scheduling of graduate HDFS courses, students may enter immediately into the MA program in the College of Arts and Sciences, full-time, with the possibility of completing their MA within one year.

Qualification for the 4+1 Program

Undergraduates in the University of Delaware HDFS major may apply for admission to the 4+1 program after completing 60 or more credits. Admission decisions will be based on GPA, work experiences, letters of recommendation, extracurricular activities, maturity, and a personal interview. There is also a proficiency requirement in the target foreign language (Minimum: Intermediate-Mid on the ACTFL Oral Proficiency Interview, or 43 points on the Versant Language Assessment).

It is generally expected that students will have an undergraduate GPA of at least 3.25 and a major GPA of 3.5 or better, and they will have an academic advisor who will strongly support his or her application to the program. UD Early Childhood Education undergraduate majors who are provisionally granted admission to the 4+1 BS/MA program in Childhood Foreign Language Education and subsequently admitted to the 4+1 program may waive the requirement to take a) HDFS 406 Supporting Literacy in Early Childhood Education (3 credits) by completing HDFS 606 Early Child Literacy Skill Development (3 credits). They will also replace a focused elective at the 400-level (3 credits) with HDFS 621 (Family Studies I: Empirical and Theoretical Perspectives). Content of the courses waived in the undergraduate program is addressed in greater depth and placed in the larger scholarly context in the corresponding graduate courses. For any undergraduate course requirement to be waived, the student needs to earn a grade of B (3.0) or better in the corresponding HDFS graduate course.

Program Overview

The purpose of the MA in Childhood Foreign Language Education is to provide candidates with the knowledge and skills needed to teach effectively in the dual language immersion classroom. This interdisciplinary program provides the opportunity for professional growth in the areas of linguistic and cultural proficiency, as well as teaching methodology. There is a part-time option for in-service teachers, and a 4+1 option for UD majors in Early Childhood Education and Elementary Teacher Education.

Application for Admission

The Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures recognizes the University application deadlines of July 1 for the fall semester and December 1 for the spring semester. However, students are encouraged to apply much earlier. Prospective 4+1 participants apply to the program after completing 60 or more credits (normally, in the fall of their junior year).

Study Abroad Opportunities

The program requires 6 credits earned on an approved graduate study abroad program, with all coursework completed in the target language.

Requirements for Admission

For non-4+1 candidates, the requirements for admission are:

- 1. BA, BS or equivalent in an appropriate discipline.
- 2. Early Childhood or Elementary Teacher certification.
- 3. Minimum undergraduate Grade Point Average of 2.9 overall, and 3.25 in the major subject.
- 4. GRE General Test. Official GRE scores should be submitted at the beginning of the application process. The analytical writing test is required as a part of the GRE. A minimum of 158 (570 on the pre-2011 scoring scale) on the verbal reasoning section is normally required.

7. Applicants must submit a writing sample of at least 1000 words in the target language (this may be a paper written for an undergraduate class). In addition, candidates applying for a teaching assistantship may have a brief personal or telephone interview conducted in English and the target language.

For 4+1 candidates, the admission requirements are:

- 1. Good standing in the University of Delaware's major in Early Childhood Education or Elementary Teacher Education.

UD endorsements of proposed new MA/4+1 program in Childhood Foreign Language Education

10/24/13

Dear Deborah,

I enthusiastically lend my support to this proposal. With the increasing number of immersion programs not only in Delaware but across the nation, your proposal offers an exciting option for interested UD students. Currently, what I see in immersion programs is either teachers who know appropriate teaching methodology knowledge but no language skills or language skills but no appropriate teaching methodology knowledge. The program you propose aims to prepare teachers with both sets of knowledge. I hope your program is hugely successful!

Dear Dr. Steinberger:

The Department of Human Development and Family Studies is pleased to support your inclusion of HDFS 606 (Early Childhood Literacy Skill Development) and HDFS 621 (Family Studies I: Empirical and Theoretical Perspectives) in your proposed 4+1 program in EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION/ELEMENTARY SCHOOL EDUCATION AND FOREIGN LANGUAGE. We think this will be an excellent option for our Early Childhood Education majors who want to teach in World Language Immersion or bilingual programs. We look forward to working with your department once the program is in place.

Sincerely,

Susan J. Hall, Ph.D., FACSM

Dear Professor Steinberger,

I'm writing to express my enthusiastic support for your proposal to create a MA program in Childhood Foreign Language Education program, and more specifically, to include EDUC 601, EDUC622, and EDUC740 in the proposed program. The faculty associated with the School's literacy programs reviewed your proposal, and concluded that the program will help ensure the preparation of teachers who are prepared to teach in dual-language immersion environments. I agree with their conclusion.

Please write or call if I can do anything to support your proposal.

10/29/13 Hi Deborah,

The School of Education also supports the 4+1 track in the MA program in Childhood Foreign Language Education for students in the Elementary Teacher Education (ETE) major. This track is a wonderful opportunity for ETE undergraduates to take some courses at the graduate level that will count towards their major and towards a MA degree. The 4+1/MA degree would be a great option for ETE students who would like to teach in elementary schools with language immersion programs.

Best,

Laura

October 20, 2013

Dear Program Committee,

On behalf of the Delaware Department of Education's World Language team, I am writing to you to express my enthusiasm for the addition of an MA & 4+1 Program in Early Childhood/Elementary and Foreign Language Education. It is exciting to see that the Universty of Delaware has taken information from our initial meeting with them to discuss immersion and has created a program that will help to ensure that more domestic students will be able to fill the ever-increasing need for highly qualified teachers for Delaware's immersion schools.

As of this year, we have eleven immersion programs throughout the state, seven of which are in Spanish. Over the course of the next two years, we anticipate adding a minimum of five additional Spanish immersion programs. Currently, we have fifteen Spanish immersion teachers through the state of Delaware and project that that number will grow to as many as ninety by 2020 just for Spanish. Although our Memorandum of Understanding with Spain allows us to bring teachers for 1-3 years to help with instruction, the sustainability of the programs will also depend on the ability to have domestic teachers of Spanish who can grow with the program and meet the needs of Delaware's students. The proposal for the MA and the 4+1 Program would be attractive not only to potential teachers in Delaware, but also for those who seek to have a career in any immersion school in the United States. As a first step in this direction, we support the efforts of the University wholeheartedly.

In order to meet Highly Qualified teacher status as defined by No Child Left Behind, it is essential for teachers to have certification both in world languages as well as early childhood/elementary education. Additionally, the Department of Education has required a minimum of Advanced Low proficiency to become an immersion teacher. By focusing on these requirements and then providing teachers with a rigorous program in pedagogy, literature and culture, and linguistics, and by incorporating elements of content instruction through language and culture instruction, teachers will be better prepared to teach in an immersion program in Delaware and beyond.

We look forward to the addition of this program at the University of Delaware, and we look forward to additional opportunities for cooperation as we endeavor to build a generation of highly proficient speakers of languages for the future of our state.

Sincerely,

Report on Library Services and Collections in Support of the MA/4+1 Program in Childhood Foreign Language Education

General Description

The University of Delaware Library includes the Hugh M. Morris Library, where the main collection is housed; two branch libraries located on the Newark campus, the Chemistry Library and the Physics Library; and a third branch library, the Marine Studies Library, located in Lewes, Delaware. The Library collections parallel the University's academic interests and support all disciplines. The new program proposal is directly supported with the Library's strong collections in Children's Literature, Education, Educational Literacy, Foreign Languages and Literatures, Psychology and Special Education and various interdisciplinary resources.

Books, periodicals, microforms, government publications, databases, full-text electronic journals and other electronic resources, maps, manuscripts and media provide a major academic resource for the University of Delaware, the surrounding community, the state of Delaware and the nation. Library staff members provide a wide range of services, including reference assistance, circulation, interlibrary loan, instructional programs, multimedia design, and assistance to the visually impaired.

The University of Delaware Library is a U.S. depository library and a U.S. patent depository library and contains a complete file of every patent the U.S. Office of Patents and Trademarks has issued.

The online catalog, DELCAT, provides access to millions of items by author, title, subject and keyword.

Library collections number over 2,800,000 and are broadly based and comprehensive. In 2012/2013, the Library Web www.udel.edu/library/ received over 1,500,000 virtual visits.

The University of Delaware Library collects and makes available electronic resources (e.g., electronic journals, electronic books and databases) to support the instructional and research needs of University of Delaware students, faculty and staff. Providers of electronic resources employ licenses as a legal means of controlling the use of their products. The University of Delaware Library abides by legally binding license agreements for the use of the electronic resources.

The University of Delaware Library is a member of the Association of Research Libraries, OCLC (including the OCLC Research Partnership), the Center for Research Libraries, LYRASIS, CIRLA (The Chesapeake Information and Research Library Alliance), NERL (NorthEast Research Libraries), Portico and the HathiTrust.

Specific Support for the MA/4+1 Childhood Foreign Language Education

Funds are designated at the beginning of each fiscal year for the support and strengthening of the collections including those related to Children's Literature, Education, and Foreign Languages and Literatures. Support for the MA/4+1 Program in Childhood Foreign Language Education is supplemented by funds used to purchase materials in other related areas as well as funds for the licensing of electronic resources.

An experienced librarian, Megan Gaffney, Associate Librarian and Coordinator, Interlibrary Loan and Document Delivery, serves as the liaison for the Romance Languages to the faculty in the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures. Suggestions for purchases received by the Library for materials related to Spanish Language and Literature are directed to Ms. Gaffney who also regularly consults faculty about priorities and the direction the collections should take. Ms. Gaffney is also available for instruction in the use of the Library for Foreign Languages and Literatures students and faculty.

Ms. Gaffney maintains a subject website for Spanish Language and Literature which can be accessed from the Library Web www.udel.edu/library/ via the "Research Guides" search box on the main Library Web page or directly by the URL guides.lib.udel.edu/spanish/. In addition to electronic resources, it contains detailed descriptions of selected primary resources including printed collections; visual material; and manuscripts and archival materials.

The Library regularly selects major and/or award-winning publications in the field of "Children's Literature" under the leadership of Meghann Matwichuk, Associate Librarian and Coordinator, Film and Video Collection Department. Historically the Library has not added Children's Literature in foreign languages.

Now, Meghann Matwichuk working with Megan Gaffney will ensure that Children's Literature in Spanish is included. If the degree program is approved by the Faculty Senate and implemented, the Library will assign a small budget allocation to support a "seed" collection in Children's Literature in Spanish. Ms. Gaffney and/or Ms. Matwichuk will be in contact with you about it.

The Library has strong collections of film and video which cover a wide range of subjects and are available for use by students and faculty in the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures. The video collection is heavily used; is increasing in size; and there has been much consultation about it by Francis C. Poole, Librarian and Head of the Film and Video Collection Department, with faculty in a number of disciplines. Use of the film and video collection often facilitates students and faculty in foreign language instruction. For example, DVDs can be set up to play back in another language with subtitles.

The Library has a nationally recognized Student Multimedia Design Center located on the Lower Level of the Morris Library which provides University of Delaware students, faculty and staff access to technology and training related to the creation of multimedia programs. The Student Multimedia Design Center includes 80 workstations, six studios, and two classrooms focused on multimedia creation, and is open all hours the Library is open. University of Delaware users also may borrow a wide variety of multimedia equipment. The Student Multimedia Design Center also provides assistance to students and faculty related to multimedia literacy skills to help integrate multimedia into instruction. Shelly L. McCoy is Head of the Student Multimedia Design Center. More information is available at: <www.lib.udel.edu/multimedia/>.
