a. Rationale for creation, revision, or deletion:

PROPOSED CHANGE:

- Phase out Russia/Central Europe regional specialization. [No longer have faculty to teach the required POSC courses.]

•

JUSTIFICATION:

Since there is no longer a Russian/Central Europe specialist on the department faculty – and hiring one seems unlikely for the foreseeable future – it seems prudent to phase out this regional specialization.

b. Summary of program:

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

International Relations is an interdisciplinary major in the College of Arts and Science with core (25 credits), concentration (18 credits), and regional specialization (9 credits) requirements. Students must choose one of four concentrations and one of six regional specializations, as detailed in the curriculum below. An honors degree option is available. All POSC courses taken for the IR major requires a minimum grade of C- or better. Students must also receive a C- or better in 30 of the 52 required credit hours and have a cumulative average of 2.0 in the 52 required hours.

Area Studies and the International Relations Major:

Students whose regional specialization is Africa, East Asia, or Latin America should give serious consideration to adding one of the university's Area Studies programs: African Studies, East Asian Studies, and Latin American Studies. Course work in these area studies programs will allow students to develop much richer and deeper knowledge of these regions. Moreover, most of the courses approved for the Regional Specialization within the International Relations major are also approved as fulfilling the Area Studies requirements thereby facilitating a minor or double major with an area studies program.

Study Abroad, Internships, and Undergraduate Research:

International Relations majors are strongly encouraged to consider a study abroad experience as a part of their program. Students participating in study abroad programs not only enrich their education through exposure to foreign cultures, but often have the opportunity to take courses, internships, and undertake other educational experiences abroad not otherwise offered in University of Delaware course lists. In many instances, these courses may count towards IR Concentration and Regional Specialization requirements. Similarly, internships and undergraduate research experiences offered from the Newark campus may be applied to IR Concentration and Regional Specialization requirements. Students should check with the IR Program Director when enrolling in study abroad courses and programs, internships, and undergraduate research programs to determine if the specific course, program, or educational experience meets a particular IR major requirement, or, if some major requirement might be waived by means of study abroad, internships, or undergraduate research programs.

Transfer Students:

Student changing their major to international relations must have completed POSC 240 with a grade of C- or better and completed at least 12 additional hours of university courses. Students must have a minimum of a 2.3 average to change their major to international relations. Students transferring to major from outside the University of Delaware will have their transcripts evaluated by the director on a case-by-case basis. For information contact Professor Kenneth J. Campbell, 302 Smith Hall (302) 831-1463 or by e-mail: kjcamp@udel.edu.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

The International Relations major is a 52 credit interdepartmental major. Each IR major must complete a set of required “Foundations” courses (25 credits), usually by the end of the fifth semester. The student must also complete an International Relations Concentration (18 credits) and a Regional Specialization (9 credits). Approved study abroad, internships, or undergraduate research may be applied towards the IR Concentrations and the Regional Specialization. Courses used to meet one IR requirement cannot be used to fulfill other IR requirements.
