The Department of Medical Technology offers Medical Technology, as well as an Honors Degree for students in medical laboratory science related to the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of disease. The Medical Technology major is accredited by the Accrediting Agency for Clinical Laboratory Sciences, 22601 N. Waukegan Road, Suite 670, Chicago, IL 60631-3471. The four-year B.S. degree curriculum is professionally designed to provide career entry positions in hospital clinical laboratories as well as graduate study in medical technology and related fields.

During the first two years at the University, students will take courses in the liberal arts, including prerequisite courses in biology, chemistry, and mathematics. The professional and clinical courses in the third and fourth years include a final period of supervised clinical experience. Students may pursue a degree with distinction, the Honors Degree with Distinction, or graduate for independent study.

Freshmen or transfer students may be admitted with a declared interest in medical technology, evaluated for admission to the Medical Technology major, and completion of the prerequisite courses. Priority will be given to University sophomores.

Class size is limited to 26 medical technology students.

Eligibility for admission to the junior year in the Medical Technology major will be based on the following criteria:

1. Minimal GPA of 2.0 in first four semesters of study.
2. Minimal grade point index of 2.0 computed for courses in biological sciences and chemistry, including: BISC 207, 208, 276, 300, and CHEM 10:214-216.
3. Completion of at least 60 credits, including the
